

Sharp class and strike where families unite!

by Winterflury67

Category: How to Train Your Dragon

Genre: Family, Hurt-Comfort

Language: English

Characters: Dagur, Heather, Hiccup, Toothless

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2016-04-12 02:12:39

Updated: 2016-04-18 07:43:15

Packaged: 2016-04-27 18:30:34

Rating: T

Chapters: 5

Words: 10,679

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Hiccup haddock is now 16 1/2 years old and lives on the edge with his friends, but what happens when one day he finds two new members of his family that he knew but never really knew. One being his long known friend and the other a certain berserker cheif we all know to well. Also how will the dragons react when they are visited by another night fury that happens to be a female.

1. The truth

Hiccup Haddock was now 16 1/2 years old. He and his friends along with there Dragons normally lived on the edge but tonight were spending a day or two on berk. After all the events of packing and training Dragons today, Hiccup was happy to finally get to lay down. It didn't last long though. Hiccup heard his father answere the door downstairs and when he heard Astrid he got up and went downstairs. "Hey Astrid, it's like 7:00 at night and todays been buisy, do you need me and my dad for somthing?" Hiccup asked. Astrid shook her head. "No but today this fell out of your saddle bag and I was returning it." She said holding out Hiccups stuffed dragon his mother made him as a baby. "Oh, thanks." Hiccup said with a smile and grabbed it. Stoick nodded a thank you to Astrid as she closed the door and left. Hiccup sat on one of the chairs and put the dragon beside him on the arm. "Hiccup I didn't know you carried that with you, don't you usally ceep it by your bed?" Stoick asked curious. "Uh yeah, just had it with me for a little bit, usally put it on the back of my bed though." Hiccup said trying to avoid conversation on the topic. Stoick saw the boy a little tense "Alright whats on ya mind." He said. "What, uh huh? I don't have anything on my uh, yep nothing really." Hiccup blurt out. Stoick nodded and sat in his own chair, right by his axe and a sharpening rock. You see Hiccup could be quiet with a dragon, dagur, flaming arrows, even an outcast prisson, but he had one particular weekness. Stoick picked up his axe and started sharpening after a tough days of work. 'Oh no' Hiccup thought, trying not to show it. He put a hand on his Dragon trying to focus on the toy. "Hey Toothless want to go flying?" He asked his dragon in an almost pleading voice. Toothless knew what was going on and gave a toothless smile, then covered his face with his tail. "Triator." Hiccup whispered but Toothless just gave a small night fury laugh. Hiccup looked at his father who had a sly smile on his face as he sharpened. "You look tense, sure your not thinking somthing?" Stoick asked, knowing he would get an answeare sooner or later. "Y...yep i'm sure not tense." Hiccup started blurting out. Stoick continued sharpening and even know he was like 16 Hiccup had a look on his face like he ate sour yack butter (It's a berk thing). "Ok if ya say so." Stoick said as hiccup quikly replied "I do...Uh ya i do." He was getting better at holding strong against this, but not good enough. Stoick knew somthing was up. He stopped for a second, to Hiccups great relief and said "Hiccup must we always do this." "Do what?" Hiccup replied with an exagerated voice. Stoick put the rock back against the metal but Hiccup quikly jumped up and said "NO! Alright, alright I do have stuff on my mind, happy?" He sounded quit anoyed. Stoick's smile went away when he saw his boy seemed to have somthing a little diffrent on his mind than usual. "You want to say what it is?" Stoick asked a little awkwardly, normally they didn't talk about regular conversation things, let alone accual feelings. Hiccup looked at Toothless then his dragon toy, but just noddod instead of looking at Stoick. His father tried asking "Alright so?" Hiccup looked up and manged in a shaky voice "D...Dreams." Stoick was a little intrested on what his son ment. "Dreams about..." He paused when Hiccup had tears threatening to fall and one on his cheek. "Hiccup?" He asked more softly. "Dad I...I know vikings are soped to let things go but...but by any chance was there somone else on the night mom...you know. And maybe things I didn't know about?" Hiccup finally managed to look up to see his father accualy seemed worried. "Um, I...what people did ya have in mind?" Stoick asked. Hiccup looked down and seemed to remember somthing. "A...A young boy, standing at your side against your arm, and a younger child about my size who went with us on a fishing trip." Hiccup explained. Stoick was surprised but then said "Hiccup, we need to talk." Hiccup looked a little shocked but then noddod in agreement. After a bit and after they sat down to eat stoick started talking. "Hiccup you said these uh...children were in a dream, about the night..." "Yes." Hiccup said fast not wanting details on that event. Stoick noddod. "Well i'm not sure, but I think those kids were memories, not just a dream." Hiccup was now concentrating as Stoick spoke. "When you were just a baby, and we lost valka, you did have two siblings. One was accualy your twin, a little girl, not to strong, black hair, and green eyes slightly brighter than yours. She also had a scar on the back of her neck from a burn during a dragon attack. When she was a baby I gave her a horn to take on a fishing trip. You were sick and she really wanted to go, so her and your unkle went with the horn that I carved my cheif cymbal into. But to all our sorrow...t..that boat was the one that crashed. We found your uncle who died shortly after, but never saw your sister, or twin. The older boy, he was both of your older brother, much diffrent than you to may i add, very strong, and loved any type of hunting. It was kinda a way he tried not to think about your mom. He had a light red hair, already starting to turn darker, and a birth mark on his neck, a circle shape with a line in the middle and what looked like the mystery class cymbal comming out the side of the circle along with eyes that turned diffrent shades of green and almost purple, the purple was left and the green was right. He also had a horn with my cheif cymball, but was also never found after that fishing trip. The reason I tell you Hiccup is because I don't want you growing up confused." Stoick finished, pain showing on his face. Hiccup looked at his dad and felt worse for Stoick than himself actually. He placed a hand over Stoicks and said "Dad it's alright you still got me, and trust me i'm not going anywhere. I may fly on dragons but am not the best fighter. But one thing, is there any chance they might have survived somehow, I mean since you never found proof that they actually, well uh, yeah you know?" Hiccup said quietly smiling a little when his dad was surprised about how open he was. "Well I don't want your hopes up, and your right we never did find proof. But if you did find them, the girl and boy would most likely have the horn as it was in there bags. The boy had the birthmark, and i'm sure the girl still would have the scar, and is your age. Just promise you won't go out in danger and get your hopes up. But you can do what your mind tells you i guess, may I ask when these dreams started?" Stoick finished. Hiccup thought and said "Not to long after we ran into dagur again, somewhere around then and when we saw heather again. Oh I didn't tell you about that, shoot, uh yeah we actually ended up saving her from dagur, and she says her village was destroyed by him. She left shortly after confessing that she was alone because when she was little, got uh...separated from her birth family. When she said some things Heather didn't remember a mother, just her dad. I wish I could help her out, but don't know where to start looking." Hiccup finished not recognizing what he just explained was kinda how he felt in ways. But you know Hiccup Selfless not Selfish, with a bit of sarcasm on the side. Stoick seemed to be thinking something and Hiccup looked at his expression wondering what. "Hiccup, do you know anything else about Heather, maybe I can help?" Stoick asked. Hiccup nodded. "Yeah she has...black hair, green eyes...slightly brighter than mine, was separated and doesn't know how...Has a dragon named windsheer...A burn mark on her neck, and...she showed me a horn that she explains her, birth father gave her." Hiccup said thinking very hard about what he just explained. Stoick looked surprised while Hiccup was just thinking, 'that can't be true, can it?' Over and over in his head. Stoick looked up and said "D...Did she ever show you the horn, like close up?" He asked. Hiccup shook his head and knowing what his dad was thinking said "It's uh...that's a pretty weird coincidence." Stoick looked up at Hiccup and said. "Uh hiccup, y...you know her better than me. Do you think it's just a coincidence?" Hiccup looked down at his dragon toy and said "Is there any chance a girl my age, never said her exact birth date, looks the same, has the same eyes, and burn mark in the same place, along with a horn similar to the one you described, could be heather and not her?" Hiccup replied thinking. Stoick looked at the now very dark Sky and said "Why don't we catch up in the morning?" Hiccup was extremely relieved and ran upstairs, held his dragon close, and lay down, drifting to sleep, Toothless by his side.

Hey fellow dragon riders, hope you like my new story, this is no sequel to anything, and well if this 'twin' was heather, who sounds like the 'older brother' Hiccup explained :). Anyways if ya don't like siblings to Hiccup or slight drama this is not for you. If this so called known 'brother' is Hiccup, then that gives ya info on the story genres already. I do ask though, if you liked the night fury sister, which I am not stopping trust me, then I would love ya to give this a chance. Anyways, I enjoy reviews and pm's because they move me to write, positive criticism, ideas, and places I did mess up are a must, how can i get better if i don't have a second person. Oh and there is a difference from helpers, and haters, helpers get more chapter, and i'll just use flames for brownies :). Anyways until next time Fellow dragon riders, Your amazing!

2. He's not who we think he is

The next morning when Hiccup woke up he remembered the conversation he had with his father. After putting his dragon toy in Toothless' saddle bag he went downstairs to where his dad was. "Hey dad." He said stretching his arms. "Good morning Hiccup, uh are you and the riders packing up?" He asked seeing the toy dragon in Toothless' bag. "Uh actually, I was gonna head to the edge for a bit with Astrid, then come back here." Hiccup replied. Stoick nodded as Hiccup got on Toothless and they flew to the academy. "Hey Astrid." Hiccup said arriving and seeing only she was there. "Hey Hiccup, good morning." She replied giving him a light kiss on the cheek. She then looked at Hiccup and said "What going on?" Seeing the look on his face. Hiccup looked down and said "I'm heading to the edge for a bit, and was wondering if you wanted to come, i'll explain on the way." He said. Astrid nodded and both climbed on their dragons, taking off to the sky.

A while later, Astrid looked at Hiccup, who knew what she would ask. "Do you know where Heather is?" He asked. Astrid shook her head, but then saw a familiar Dragon near a cave. "Well there's your answer." She said pointing down. Hiccup nodded and both flew down. When they got inside, Hiccup and Astrid saw Heather but another boy too, "Dagur!" They both gasped, but Dagur didn't say anything just sat there. Hiccup looked back at Heather and said "Heather can we talk about something, alone?" Heather nodded. Hiccup and Heather started walking to the back of the cave, but Hiccup stopped when he heard a loud noise. "Nigh..." He stopped as a giant black dragon pushed him over and walked towards Dagur who stood up. Before Hiccup yelled no, Dagur did the completely unexpected. He dropped his sword and started talking to the dragon holding a hand out which she accepted. Hiccup was even more confused when Dagur soothed her and said "They won't hurt you Shadowblade, calm down." In a surprisingly soft voice. Then Hiccup saw Heather's horn, and a horn Dagur had very similar. It finally hit him when he saw a mark on his shoulder that didn't look much like a scar but instead, a circle shape with a line and a mystery class cymbal on the side almost. Hiccup was shocked and pretty much frozen. Dagur looked back at him but kept his distance, as if not wanting to tell Hiccup he would hurt them, even know that's what he did for almost three years. "Ok...scratch that, can I talk to Heather and Dagur...alone?" Hiccup said after a moment. Now everyone was surprised. Heather continued walking but Dagur stayed, not knowing if this was a trap. "Dagur this is important, something we all need to find out." Hiccup said turning around and reaching out his hand. Toothless bumped into his rider but Hiccup quickly told him to stop. Dagur slowly reached out and took Hiccup's hand, as the three walked back, Astrid staying with Windsheer and Stormfly.

After near the back of the cave Hiccup started talking. "Guys, I know this will sound weird but...can I see the horns you're holding?" Both hesitated, but then handed them over. Hiccup turned them over and saw it, the Berk chief's cymbal. He handed them back to the two on the side revealing what he was saying. "W...Why is your father's crest engraved in my horn?" Heather asked in a shaky tone. "Hiccup, wh...what are you trying to tell us?" Dagur managed. Hiccup looked at Dagur's shoulder, then at the horn. "Dagur, do you know where you got that mark, and horn?" Hiccup asked sternly. "Uh...not exactly. My dad gave it to me, saying I would understand later on, and the mark, I don't know it's always been there." Dagur said surprised at the question. "And why do you have a night fury, I mean don't you kill dragons?"

Also why did you kill them even after we said they were no harm?" Hiccup asked a bit more softly. Dagur was a bit shocked, not knowing how to answer. "I...Doesn't dragon training need trust? Well I was taught to get revenge on berserker island, and so I got revenge. I couldn't trust them, so uh...you know." He answered after a pause, feeling Shadowblade have her head against his hand. "Why couldn't you trust them?" Hiccup asked much more softly. "I...I don't know. I was angry at them. I remember, a woman when I was younger, was taken by one with four wings. I knew she was my mother because I've never seen her with my dad, but the man who I stood by...He was, or at least didn't look like my father." Hiccup was now the shocked one and managed "D...dagur, do you remember anything someone might have said on that night, like someone yelling?" "All I remember anyone saying, well yelling a name...Valka." Hiccup stepped back along with Heather. "Hiccup, w...what are you..." Heather paused and looked at him. He moved her hair to the side on her neck then looked at both of their horns, and finally touched the scar on his chin. After that he looked back at Dagur's shoulder and said. "Now guys, I...I could be wrong, but according to what my dad said, and what I remember...Those things that took place, Heather's burn mark, Dagur's memory of his mom,...t...those were all events that took place in the same...Family." Hiccup finished looking down as the others were shocked. "But how do you..." Dagur paused as Hiccup pointed to the mark on Dagur's neck. "Wait so your saying Stoick described your siblings to you...and we match perfectly?" Heather asked. Hiccup nodded. "We need to tell my...uh,...Stoick. But I don't know how I'll get to the great hall without someone going off on Dagur." He said. "Well why don't you walk with me behind you like I was captured, but have Shadowblade on the side. Then you could explain everything." Dagur suggested. Hiccup smiled "Maybe but there has to be more, I mean my dad can't go against the tribe. Wait hold on...Dagur I heard you uh...killed your father. If that's true can you say what happened, maybe that can bring something up?" Hiccup suggested. Dagur looked down "Hiccup if I was a deranged maniac because my mom was taken right in front of me, do you really think I would kill my dad on purpose? No it was on accident, we were in the forest near a cave. A rock slide started and I tried to push him out of the way, but right as one fell causing the others to as well, he pushed me. I was so busy trying to get him safe myself that I didn't yell for help. Instead I didn't exactly kill him but was the thing that led to his death." Dagur said clenching his fist. Hiccup stepped in quickly "And you left that part out because you hated talking about it, and sorta blamed yourself in ways?" Hiccup asked stepping forward. Dagur looked at him surprised and nodded, unable to speak. "Dagur, trust me I know how that feels, on so many levels. But if you blame yourself or leave that part out, people are gonna think your someone your not." Hiccup reasoned. Dagur nodded. "Ok so we have a sibling relationship, a night fury that could cause harm if trying to protect him, he remembers your...uh...our...Stoick's wife, he is accused of things in wrong ways, and technically most of the things he did was to me and Hiccup so we would have most say in dropping anything against him. Above all, if this is true, and Stoick remembers, do you think he will get that if we were not together, were not a hole?" Heather asked. Dagur and Hiccup looked down. Hiccup's stuffed dragon fell out of Toothless' bag and Hiccup quickly picked it up, but Dagur saw. Instead of making fun of him though, he ended up saying "Hey...I..isn't that, the dragon, the one mom sat on my little brother's cradle but he...you...uh, my little brother threw it into the ocean one day. I never got why she made him a dragon though, with the war and all." Hiccup smiled then looked at Dagur "You must remember a lot more than

I do." He said looking into dagurs diffrent shaded eyes. Dagur nodded.

Later after forming there plan they walked out to Astrid. "What took you so long, and how are you two...you know not trying to kill eachother?" Astrid asked quiet confused when both boys just smiled at eachother. "We need to talk after we say somthing to Stoick." Heather told Astrid as all three flew off.

When they arived at Berk, just like the plan, dagur walked behind Hiccup, sheilded by the nightfury's for anyone who didn't know he was there. They got to the great hall and looked up at a surprised Stoick. "You caught dagur?" He asked. "Accually, more like he caught himself." Hiccup said surprising Stoick. Hiccup explained that they all needed to talk alone and Stoick got everyone out of the great hall. Hiccup looked at both of the other teens and they nodded handing there horns to Stoick. Stoick looked shocked, like this was a dream. "But Hiccup...that can't be true...I mean with dagu..." He was cut off when Hiccup said, "You got dagur wrong dad, he accually was not the cause of his dads death, but blames himself and leaves out details. Also he remembers a few things from his past that i'm not saying are from me, but the way he said it...I think it's pretty close to what you have told me. And if it is true he has the mark, hair, eyes and horn, that's alot of proof. Plus he's around 1 1/2 years older than me and heather is around my age but doesn't know her birth date. Also he said the reason he killed dragons was because he was taught to get revenge and remembers an event that sounds alot like...well you know what I mean." Hiccup said raising his voice. "And most of the things he did was to me and Hiccup so shouldn't we have a say in somthing?" Heather cut in quietly. Stoick looked at the horn, the mark, and dagurs face designn. But what finally got him to believe the truth was when he asked dagur about what he did remember. Hiccup stepped back a bit when Stoick said it did happen. Not father nor son liked talking about it, so hiccup was in the dark on a few things. After Stoick agreed he finally said "Well I...I don't know a better way to say this but...I guess you can say your Heather and Dagur Haddock." Hiccup and Heather smiled but Dagur continued looking down. To be ohnest Stoick did know the boy had been thorough alot, and was now 18, he kinda felt sorry. "Dagur...I..I know you were taught diffrently from us...so I completly get trust issues and diffrent acts of behavior...But when a cheif says somthing like what I said..they mean it. Can we just work on this? You are the oldest so why don't we make it even by having you make sure Hiccup doesn't go get himself into trouble? I think that sounds fair, deal?" Stoick said smiling laying a hand lightly on dagurs shoulder. Dagur flinched, but then looked up "Deal" he replied smiling for a second.

Hey guys hope you enjoyed, I try my best. Anywase thanks for those of you who did like and veiws. Also remember I love reveiws and possitive critisism along with calling my mistakes out are a must, it makes me a better writer and gives me determination. Also another thing, thank you guys who find insperation in my stories. Remember theres a diffrence between 'Helpers' and 'Haters'. Helpers get new chapters and less cliffhanger, and i'm planning a cook out so flames with be tossed in the wood :) Until next time Fellow dragon riders, Your amazing!

Hiccup was standing by Heather after Stoick and Dagur finished talking. "Hey Hiccup ya think the uh...riders will wanna see windshere again?" Heather said trying to keep her voice easy, it's not everyday you find out you had a twin and older brother one you knew and the other a former enemy. Hiccup nodded then looked at Dagur. "Uh...The others might wanna see um...you said Shadowblade I like it." Hiccup said. Dagur understood the Hiccup was finding it a little difficult talking to him and that's why he kinda bounced topics and stuttered a little, so he just nodded after seeing Stoick had no problem and all three flew off.

Once they arrived Astrid was there along with the other riders figuring out when they would head back to the Edge. Hiccup flew in first, then Heather and Finally Dagur. Astrid knew he had a nightfury but was pretty much as confused as the others. "Hey uh...Astrid what were you guys talking about?" Hiccup asked. "Oh just about when were heading back to the Edge." She replied. The only thing Hiccup brought was his dragon and a spare blanket along with two spare legs. So he was pretty much packed and the other two well they didn't have much. "Hey Hiccup why is Dagur here?" Snotlout asked in his normal kinda rude voice. "Uh...He's with me and Heather." Hiccup replied finding that the best answer. "But what about..." "Things are changed, end of topic." Hiccup said a little more roughly to stop Snotlout not wanting to go into detail about everything. He already had to do that twice. Snotlout almost spoke again but then everyone somehow just noticed the Nightfury. "H...how did you find another nightfury Hiccup!? And it's a female you can tell by the different color of eyes and size, along with shape compared to Toothless!" Fishlegs, to absolutely no one's surprise, started blurting out things so fast they didn't seem English. "Uh...I didn't, actually I'm not her trainer." Hiccup said smiling. Fishlegs stopped and everyone else wondered 'who' but didn't say anything. Hiccup smiled and bumped Dagur's shoulder. "What." He whispered back. "You trained her, you tell them." Hiccup whispered back. Dagur looked at Hiccup's face that was excited to hear the story to. "Ok,ok...I'm her trainer, no joke. And I'm guessing you wanna know how I met her, am I mistaken Hiccup?" Hiccup wasn't used, ironically to Dagur calling him by his real name in conversation, normally if it wasn't a threat he would actually say 'Brother' who knew. After he came out of his thoughts he said "Yeah, That's...kinda the idea." He had a really excited look to, almost childish, so not Hiccup, then again he was mostly on his own when it came to someone to look up to. Dagur was now the one who smiled but it disappeared quickly, even though Hiccup did see it. "Well it was actually after the hunter kicked me off their ship for saving Heather that day. I don't know why I did but it just didn't feel right if I let her go. I knew they would lock me up or hurt me, so ran away. They caught me at the edge of the boat and I fell into the cold water after one hit me with a sword, it didn't go deep though. Anyways a few hours later I crashed on an island where I saw some terrible terrors. I didn't care about hunting so tried what I saw Hiccup and Heather do. To my absolute surprise, it saw my cut arm and crawled beside me, making purring sounds to help me fall asleep. Eventually, him and friends started bringing me fish and helped me build fires. Later three or four days after I crashed, it started storming and I picked them up and ran to a cave. When in there, a rock slide happened, trapping me and the little dragons in. Then I heard low growling and moved over to the sound, sword in hand. When I saw it was a night fury, and that it was very hungry due to its wing being hurt from a battle, I dropped my sword and talked to her. Eventually when I gave her the respect she wanted, Shadowblade, as I call her because she's virtually invisible in the dark, and held her own in battle, let me touch her as we both looked for food and I helped her with tasks so her wing could heal. After that we started flying and landed in that cave Heather, Hiccup, and Astrid found me in. The reason I was so quiet was because I couldn't find much things out and kinda...well, you know, didn't know what to say. I'm kinda surprised you didn't notice her at first." Dagur finished looking at Hiccup, who actually, to Dagur's surprise, had kinda developed the habit of standing by him as he talked, like a boy by his friend, or brother at the front of a class. Hiccup noticed he was in Dagur's space and moved to the side. Dagur couldn't help but smile a little. "Yeah that's these guys, argue and talk so much they wouldn't notice a typhoomerang on a sunny day right in front of them." Hiccup said earning a laugh from Heather. "So not much has changed?" Dagur said remembering when they were younger tennagers. "Yep same story different year." Both Hiccup and Heather said at the same time. They couldn't help but laugh a little. "So I guess you don't forget anything I say." Hiccup asked. Heather took this opportunity to her advantage "I guess I don't and not just what you say." She said smiling right at Astrid. "Don't you dare" Astrid snapped. "I wouldn't dream of it." Heather smiled. Hiccup was in the dark and said "What are you guys talking about?" Both girls just smiled and said "Boys" At the same, loving how confused Hiccup was. Dagur actually understood, being in many of these situations when the Berserkers were a bit different. He smiled but let the girls continue. "Ah don't worry, there girls." Dagur said bumping Hiccup's shoulder. Hiccup smiled and said "Alright." in a awkward voice.

A little while later, Hiccup and the others, along with Heather and Dagur decided to head back to Dragons Edge. After Hiccup told his father and made Dagur a saddle as Heather made her own before, they all took to the sky, heading to their home away from home. On the way Toothless and Shadowblade were getting a bit bored. Hiccup saw this and said "Toothless wanna work on our trick?" Patting the dragon's head. Everyone was confused but Hiccup positioned Toothless who got ready. They flew straight and saw nothing in the way so Hiccup took a running start and jumped off, unravelling his flight suit inspired by a speed stinger they met. He started gliding as Toothless followed close behind. "Is he always like this?" Dagur asked. "I don't know, Astrid" Heather said "Yep typically Hiccup." Astrid answered them smiling. "But I think he forgot he doesn't know how to..." "Toothless!" They all heard as Hiccup started flying towards a large rock. Toothless was stuck in position and wasn't flying fast at all. Everyone was far behind when they heard another dragon zoom past. Next thing Hiccup knew he felt two claws of a nightfury holding his arms and carrying him back to dragon. When tossed on Toothless' back Hiccup looked at Dagur and said "I had it under control you know." "Sure, you were in control of crashing a giant rock, besides I told...uh...your...Stoick that I would make sure you didn't get hurt if we stayed moving on. It was a deal, and I don't break deals." Dagur said smiling. "Since when!?" Hiccup said exaggerated. "Oh common." Dagur said almost whining. Hiccup rolled his eyes as Heather flew in "Ok can we just say both of you did your part?" She asked pointing at both. "Ok!" Hiccup yelled. "Race!?" Dagur questioned. And before you knew it both teens were flying full speed neck and neck as if Heather didn't say anything. Both her and Astrid facepalmed and said "Boys." Under their breath shaking their head.

Once at the Edge both boys touched down first, but you imagined it.

"That was my win." Hiccup said. "NO me!" Dagur countered. They were still arguing when the others arrived and Heather stepped between them. "You two are acting like little kids, it was a draw." She said sternly. Both Hiccup and Dagur nodded and walked away as if Heather was the only one who could keep them under control. She went to sit down by Astrid and the others while Hiccup was showing Dagur his hut. "It's like you're the only one who can control them." Astrid said smiling. "Eh let boys be boys." Heather replied, not noticing how much she was sounding like a mature sister. "Wow someone grew up." Snotlout said surprised. "Oh uh yeah." Heather said smoothly. "What was it you three and Stoick were talking about?" Astrid asked curious. "Uh nothing really." Heather said. Astrid was fine with that response but you got it, Snotlout decided to get more details. "What do you mean?" He asked. Heather looked at him and said "Me, Hiccup and Dagur went to the great hall to talk with uh...our...there...Hiccups...Stoick about something." The stress was in her voice. "Why do guys do that?" Astrid asked. "Do what?" Heather replied confused. "Talk like you're meaning five different people but it always ends up being Stoick?" Tuffnut questioned. "Uh...I guess we don't really know what to call him maybe." Heather replied looking down. Astrid laid a hand on her shoulder. "Heather, do you want to go have some girl time?" She asked smiling. Heather nodded and Both flew off on their dragons to some nearby cliffs.

After arriving, Heather sat down by a pond, Astrid following. "Astrid you know how I said we needed to talk in that cave." Heather said. Astrid nodded. "Well that's what the Stoick thing is about." She said and handed Astrid the horn, who was surprised it had the berk chief's cymbal. "Wait isn't this Hiccups' dad's Chief's cymbal?" She asked observing it. "Not just Hiccups' dad's." Heather responded. "Wait you mean...Your his...I mean..." "I'm his twin. Yes. And Dagur our older brother check on that list. Meet Heather and Dagur Haddock." Heather finished leaning back as if a thousand boulders were lifted off her chest. "Oh...I uh...I didn't..." Astrid was trying to find the words. Heather smiled. "It's alright, you didn't know but please don't tell all the others." Heather said. But then caught off guard they saw all the dragon riders except Hiccup and Dagur moving in the bushes. "Oh Gods! Alright, come out here you guys, and how much of that did you hear?" Heather said loudly. All of them walked out mumbling about who did what in getting them caught. "Uh...Enough to hear exactly what you meant, and who you guys are to Hiccup." Fishlegs said. Heather looked down. "O...ok just don't go running into me and Hiccup or Dagur with a waterfall of questions." Heather said and flew to Hiccups' hut on Windshear, Astrid talking to the others.

When she arrived Hiccup was showing Dagur his journal, who was actually concentrating and liking how much Hiccup knew and described things. "So you pull back on this lever?" Dagur asked. "Yes and then you pull this trigger that releases the rope." Hiccup finished pointing to things to work one of his new designs. "Maybe some of these can help us get the dragon eye back?" Dagur said surprising Hiccup. "That's a great idea, we could weld parts to our Gronkle's iron armor, then place certain things at different points to use for cover fires, after shots, and by us some time." Hiccup said smiling. They just now realized Heather walked in. "Oh hey Heather." Hiccup said. "Why the low face?" He asked. "Hiccup lets just say the others know about what we talked about with Stoick because some certain Mutton heads snuck up on me. Is that alright." She said quietly. "Well they would've found out sooner or later, especially twins. I don't think you know how good they can be at little tricks and sneaking up on people. Did you ever hear about the time they did something that caused me to punch snotlout in the face?" Hiccup asked smiling. "You did what!?" Both Dagur and Heather said at once. "Yeah I think it only broke one tooth, but then I heard him say 'Two' with ice on his mouth after I walked out." Hiccup said trying to hold back a small laugh. Dagur looked stunned and Heather just said "Well I guess he learned a lesson. Maybe this scrony little one legged viking has more in him then we thought." Heather said poking Hiccup in the chest. "Hey!" He said loudly as both Heather and Dagur were laughing like nothing to it now. "I knew i'd get you to laugh." Hiccup said looking at Dagur who stopped immediatly. "No...No it's fine, better than that fake one you gave when yelling at me." Hiccup said smiling wile dagur returned it. "Hey why don't we head outside, maybe we can get revenge on those so called mutton heads you mentioned." Hiccup said winking at Dagur. "For once I agree with you." Dagur said. As the two flew off Heather following.

Hey guys hope you enjoyed, once again plz review and leave possitive crittisisma and call out my mistakes where it will make my stories better. Remember helpers get more chapters and We need a warmer fire place so i'll save flames for that since were out of matches. Until later Fellow dragon riders, Your amazing!

4. Brother or Brothers

Hey guys Just to let you know this chapter has some Hiccstrid, and Hiccup is the one who makes the first move :) Anywase he also bests Astrid in a fight soooo yeah. Oh and another thing, slight things on 'there' mom and also I know this is late but has and will have some rtte spoilers lets go fellow dragon riders!...

Hiccup, Heather and Dagur arived at there destination. They saw the other riders all inside the clubhouse talking but kinda figured out what they were talking about so didn't ask. "Hey Hiccup!" Astrid shouted as the three walked in. "Hey Astrid." Hiccup replied watching Shadowblade and Toothless playing. "You know, I never thought I would see another Night fury, but i'm glad Toothless has a friend." Hiccup said looking at dagur who was a little taller. "Yeah things change for the better." Dagur said smiling and looking down at Hiccup. Heather walked over and looked at the boys. They talked ok, but did seem a little off by eachother. And Dagur was really seeming to try and be a good big brother to Hiccup and herself. Astrid saw the uneezy trio and said "Hey why don't you guys go fly somewhere to catch up. We can take care of things here, and you three don't know eachother completly." Hiccup looked at the others who smiled then nodded to Astrid as all three flew off.

A wile later Hiccup, Heather, and Dagur landed on a small cliff, near a pond with plants around it. Dagur got off Shadowblade and went to sit by the water. Heather got off Windshere and sat a little far from him, looking at the plants. Hiccup got off Toothless and sat against his dragon, waching the water ripple as leaves fell. The three were quiet for a bit when Hiccup decided to sit next to Dagur wile Toothless sat by Shadowblade. Dagur seemed unfazed, not saying anything. Hiccup had something on his mind but had a hard time getting it out. Dagur could tell but didn't push the limit. Heather looked but continued watching the clouds with windshere. Hiccup sat against Toothless' wing and rested his head back when Toothless saw something was up. He nudged his rider who laughed a little but then looked surprised as Toothless reached for the stuffed dragon in the saddle bag. He lay it on Hiccup lap, as before he realized it sometimes eased him. Hiccup looked at Toothless and was even a bit surprised that he knew what he was thinking about sorta. He looked down again and pushed it off his lap, letting it roll into the grass between him and Dagur. Hiccup did feel close to the toy but didn't feel comfortable beside it since he had started having the dreams and found out Dagur and Heather were more than just his friends. Dagur looked down and saw Hiccup had a frustrated, not knowing what to do look. He placed a hand on the toy and moved it near Hiccup's hand. "It's amazing how much Toothless tries to help, and knows how to." Dagur said smiling at Hiccup. "Yeah he's been my best friend, and the only real family I got who's not my dad since we met. Well until now I mean." The boy replied smiling. Dagur smiled back then asked "Why did you push it away? I thought you liked keeping it close." He got used to the small toy. Hiccup sighed and said "It's the only thing that I use to remember her, because the little memory I do have. The only other event I know of was the day I don't want to remember, so I guess I have mixed thoughts about it." "Well since you found me in the cave, and told me her name was Valka when I asked, I can say I do have some memory, I was older around 4 years." Dagur said looking at Hiccup. Heather wasn't too interested but kinda listened in. "Do...do you remember how she looked?" Hiccup said quietly, not remembering too much on appearance. "Uh well, she wasn't really strong by how I remember the figure, and had a sorta hazel colored eyes I think. Maybe that's where I get different colored eyes from. And I remember one day, she had you in her arms and was talking. Stoick was beside me and Heather was in the cradle asleep, she did kinda like being alone. I remember you were pretty small, yet I always liked being around you, despite the fact I inherited most things from the father." Dagur finished smiling. Hiccup looked up at him thinking so many things. He never liked to talk to people, yet it was different with Dagur and Heather, mostly Dagur because Heather liked her own space. Dagur grabbed the small dragon and placed it in the palm of Hiccup's hand. Hiccup looked down, not knowing what he should do. Did he like it? Was it close to him? Or was it something about Dagur being there? Dagur saw Hiccup's confused face and gently wrapped his hands over the dragon, then placed his own on the boy's. Hiccup looked down at this, still confused. "I...I remember when we were younger and you uh...you know. But I kinda think it's a little weird how you always said 'brother' yet I replied other wise. Who knew." He said. Dagur gave a small laugh. "Well we're together now...Brother." He said. Hiccup unlike most times replied softly "Yeah...Brother." The sun was starting to set. "Hey how long we been out here?" Heather asked. Dagur and Hiccup shrugged. Heather smiled and lay back down, not interfering. It was getting a little late and after all that had happened today and the day before, Hiccup was tired as Gronkle with a full stomach. He lay against Dagur's shoulder not noticing at first. Dagur smiled and didn't push him away. Hiccup was relieved and ended up thinking on their previous conversation, but with his dragon and siblings, he felt, safe. A few tears of joy, confusion, and relief came to Hiccup, some managing to fall even though he tried to hold it back. Heather finally decided to come over and wrapped her arm around Hiccup, while Dagur sat letting him lean on his shoulder. Heather leaned back against Hiccup and said "Brother, and sister?" Hiccup nodded "Sure why not." He replied smiling causing Heather to giggle a little. They sat a little longer watching the sun set before getting up to head back to the clubhouse.

They flew back and saw all the other Dragon Riders. Astrid walked up and gave Hiccup a light punch. "What?" He exclaimed. "That's for staying away late and making me worry." She was about to kiss him on the cheek but Hiccup had another plan. She grabbed the collar on his shirt but he pulled away and pulled her to him, landing a kiss and moving back. "And that's for everything else?" He asked smiling. Everyone there was surprised even Astrid. Her face was a kinda bright red yet looked pail. Hiccup had never made the first move.

"Uh...y..yeah I was gonna say that." She said then looked mad and punched him on the shoulder. Dagur and Heather laughed while the others were mumbling to themselves about what just happened. "You know if this ceeps up i'm only going to have two limbs, not the usuall three." He said sarcasticly. Astrid started getting more upset and threw another punch but Hiccup grabbed her wrist and stopped her. "What!" She screamed. "Did anyone ever tell you to find another way to deal with your anger issues?" Hiccup asked smiling. There was quiet "ooh" noises comming from everyone. "Hiccup Horendous Haddock the third, when did you get stronger than me!" Astrid exclaimed reaching for her axe that Hiccup managed to grab and hold up throwing it to stick in the wood near the door, then looked back at her. Everyone was shocked. "Hey this is like when he punched snotlout!" Ruffnut shout. Hiccup was cought off gaurd and Astrid escaped his grip turning toward him with a death glar. "You did what?" Fishlegs asked. "I said not to mention that!" Hiccup yelled at Ruffnut who stepped back. Astrid ran for him, the battle was on. She went for her axe and picked it up, throwing in almost perfect aim. Hiccup dodged then moved to the side, tripping her and grabbing her arm. "Give up?" He asked knowing the answee. "No!" Astrid yelled. Hiccup pulled her back and grabed her axe blocking her punch with his left fourarm. She knsocked him over and held the axe to his throte but Hiccup rolled back after kicking her knees and stood up. Astrid yelled and went for a surprise attack. She came from behind, and tried to get him in a head lock. Hiccup heard her running and spun around taking her arm and putting her back to him, pushing her arm slightly up her back, and knowing she would try and jab him with elbows, used his free hand to grab her free arm and pin it to her side, bending his knees and sitting on a peice of wood like nothing happened. "Give up?" He asked again. Astrid almost said no but Hiccup moved her arm slightly higher as she yelled "Yes! You beat me in this fight, I give up!" Hiccup smiled and let her go. She looked back at him surprised. "Your not to bad but how did you get fighting skill? You never train." Astrid said. "Well I had a few encounters and built up striength without anyone knowing, I also knew when enough was enough, and when to save energy in battle." Hiccup replied handing her her axe. "But how did you beat Astrid!? She's our best worrier!" Snotlout said wanting an answee. "Everyone has striengths and weekness', I knew Astrids and took it to my advantage, trying not to let her get my week points." Hiccup explained. Astrid looked at him and said "What weekspots do I have?" Hiccup smiled. "For one you forget theres a diffrence in having self confidence and thinking your the best at everything. Also you start at a good pace, weekening your aponnent, but when they make you mad, you go for everything, swinging and kicking, no defence. I used that and lowered your energy wile saving mine, once you were tired and off guard I took the chance and restrained you, ceeping you from hitting me, then it was done, you couldn't escape." He finished. Everyone looked amazed, Hiccup was...A fighter and bested Astrid.

"Another thing, you need to listen and use brains to not just striength." He pointed out. Astrid smiled and said. "Alright this one you won, but won't be so lucky next time. We should get to sleap." Hiccup nodded. "UH..." He paused looking at Dagur and Heather. "I guess if Heather can bunk with Astrid Dagur can share with me." He said. Astrid nodded and her along with Heather flew off on Stormfly and Windshere, to Astrids hut for bed. Everyone else flew off and then Hiccup and Dagur on there Night furies.

Once there Hiccup let Toothless sleap on his rock but then was a little nervous on Dragon territory instincts. But him and Dagur were both surprised when Shadowblade moved overa and Toothless happily let her share. "Huh...Dragons are usally very territorial with there sleaping and nesting grounds...unless..." Hiccup paused and looked at Dagur. "He's sharing the nesting ground...that would mean..." Dagur paused as well letting Hiccup finish. "If there nesting and sleaping ground was the same...his instincts are in and...Toothless along with Shadowblade...I mean Snoggletogs in a few months and that's when the...Dagur...I think our Dragons like eachother, and we might see more than two night furies." Hiccup smiled as well as Dagur. "Do you think there might be more dragons and islands than the dragon eye showed?" Dagur asked. "What do you mean? You don't think..." Hiccup paused. "I was with viggo remember, and I think somthing on that device could not be unlocked without somone or somthings help. I mean if you use your brains, and my information.." "The Flightmare." They both said at the same time. "Wait but if it can lead new places, and we found one other night fury and new dragons..." Hiccup stopped looking down. Dagur put a hand on him and said "Well...are we gonna save those Dragons or not." Hiccup smiled. "Of course Brother." He made his voice sound long and tride to ceep a strate face, trying to immitate Dagur. "Hey that was my thing." Dagur complained. Hiccup stood up and said "Oh that's nothing, you havn't heard my impression on my father or uh..." Dagur smiled and nodded. "Well ok... _Excuse me barmed I thought you brought me the wrong off spring, now my boy has beefy arms, earned glory in besting Astrid today, this here, this is no talking fishbone!" _Hiccup immitated Stoick, somthing he got into a habbit of, and changed it up from previous attempts. Dagur laughed a bit then rubbed his eyes "I think we should go to bed." He said. Hiccup nodded and said Dagur could use his bed wile he slept on the floor over some blankets. Dagur objected "I'm on the floor, your on your bed, remember I slept in an outcast prisson, so this is fine." Hiccup smiled as both went to sleep, having diffrent dreams about being together.

Hey guys hope you liked, so yeah I decided to show more on how much stronger Hiccup is now that he's 16 1/2. Dagur and Heather are getting along better with him and remember Dagur remember more than even Hiccup so that can go many dirrections. As you can see I did the thing on him immitating Stoick from the first movie but decided to change it up. Anywase please review, follow, and like, along with call out my mistakes. Helpers get chapters, and I'll use flames to light fireworks during my sleepover. Anywho, ceep flying happy fellow Dragin riders, Your amazing!

5. To much!

Before I write I wanted to say sorry for the wait and bring up some people who I loved the reveiws

LexieFanatic: I totally agree that they look like they could be related to Hiccup and thx for the reveiw :)

*Httydlover467: Thx for the tip on not using bold, it's even easier for me to type with regular, and I think alot of people will enjoy the easy to read thing, oh and i'm also working on splitting paragraphs. Your amazing!

Anywase, lets go read, oh and this chapter has a major twist I think you'll like :)

The next morning, things were going smooth. Astrid and Heather were awake, and the twins woke the others up. Dagur woke up from the floor and got up seeing Hiccup sound asleep. He almost went outside not waking Hiccup up when he heard a familiar voice. Dagur looked out the window and saw his new enemy's running around in the tree's, but he knew there tactics. He went to Hiccup and lightly shook his arm. "Huh?" Hiccup mumbled. "Hiccup it's me Dagur you need to get up, I saw dragon hunters in the nearby forest, and knowing there ways, I know you and our Dragons are not safe right now. We need to tell the others." Dagur said a little roughly. Hiccup heard him and sat up strate looking at Dagur. They both nodded and went to get there Dragons.

Hiccup got on Toothless and Dagur on Shadowblade. Hiccup took off first, Dagur making sure no one was there, then flew off as well catching up. They landed near the others and explained everything. "So...hold on, the Dragon hunters are here? Including Riker and Viggo?" Heather asked. "I don't know about Viggo, but I do know theres others here, that's why I didn't let Hiccup sleap in, and got the Dragons out of there with how close his hut to that forest." Dagur explained. Everyone nodded and headed for the clubhouse to make a plan when Heather, Hiccup, and Dagur saw somthing unbelievable. On the shore nearby, where a boat was, a woman looking very tired stood there gaurded. The three knew her but couldn't put there finger on it. "Hiccup, guys get over here!" Astrid shouted from up ahead. The woman didn't turn around but wore old cloths and an apron for cooking. Hiccup, Dagur, and Heather all stayed there, needing to find out who that was. "Dagur...who.." Hiccup paused. "I don't know, I just know I know her from somewhere." Heather said. "Well we can't leave her for the dragon hunters. By the looks of it, I would say she was captured." Dagur said. The three nodded and as Astrid was about to yell somthing, Hiccup, Dagur, and Heather flew down at fast pace.

"Hey what are you doing!" One man shouted as the siblings landed. "We saw that woman who was not here before, and by the looks of it, I don't think serving you is her will!" Dagur practicly growled. The woman stood up strate and listened. She turned around, a scar on her eye and was surprised to see not one but two night fury's. She started to speek but Riker stepped in "Be quiet!" He yelled. Viggo came out of the shadows causing Hiccup to want to go for him then and there. "Oh Hiccup Haddock, we meat again, and Dagur along with Heather working with you, that is a slight surprise I must say." He said looking at his fingures not showing any hint of caring about Hiccup wanting to attack him one bit. When he said each name the woman with brown hair spun around and looked at each one when hearing the name Hiccup Haddock, along with the other two. She staired at them with wide eyes. "We know you from somewhere, and from the looks of it you know it, can you tell us your name?" Heather said. "I'm..." She was cut off when Viggo snapped his fingures and two gaurds pulled her back into the bottom of the boat. Dagur looked shocked. "Wait!" He yelled and kicked one gaurd, grabbing the womans arm pulling her near his siblings. Riker pulled out an axe and pointed it at..."Toothless!" Hiccup yelled as the dragon was pulled back and muzzled. Heather grabbed him by the arm when A gaurd had a sword held at Hiccup, threatening to use it if Hiccup came any closer. "Hiccup stop! We will get Toothless but getting yourself killed isn't gonna help." Heather said causing him to use all his striength to hold himself back. They looked at the woman again who seemed just as worried about the night fury. "To...To ansvere your question my name is..." She was cut off when they heard Toothless roar in pain after an arrow hit him in the side. Hiccup almost yelled and went for them when he saw the man from before holding his sword at Hiccup. "Riker, Viggo, let the dragon go." The woman said. Viggo almost objected when the boat was hit by a fire ball. "Yeah!" Tuffnut yelled. "One thousand punds of flaming muscle comming through!" Snotlout yelled shooting the side. Hiccup took his sword and set Toothless free then pulled the arrow out of his side, getting the dragon to run to shore. Heather got on Windshere and Dagur on Shadowblade. The woman who was going to speek ran with Hiccup to the beach. Dagur, Heather, and Hiccup all sat down by her, Toothless laying by Hiccup. "I...I can help your night fury." She said pulling a rag out of her apron. Hiccup nodded wile she got the rag wet and lay it on Toothless who was to tired from the refined dragon rute to object. "Do you have somthing for infectiones and a small wrap?" She asked. Astrid nodded and ran to her hut. Wile she was cleaning Toothless' wound, Hiccup decided to say "You never said your uh...name." The tall woman with brown hair looked down and said in a shaky tone "D...Do you three recognize the name...Valka?" Hiccup, Dagur and Heather were all a bit surprised. "Valka, Haddock?" Heather asked laying a hand on Valkas shoulder. "That's where we knew you from...isn't it." Dagur said quietly. "If you three are Hiccup, Heather, and Dagur Haddock then your ansveres yes." She said focusing on Toothless. Everyone was silent. Astrid returned wile Valka put on the cream for infectiones and wrapped the wound lightly so there was still air. She saw the siblings and asked "What did I miss?" In a quiet tone. "Astrid..." Hiccup started. "Meat our..." Heather couldn't talk bearly. "Mother." Dagur said in a whispere. "That's your mother?" Astrid asked a bit surprised but only whispered. Hiccup nodded.

After Toothless was bandaged, Hiccup stood up and looked at his mom as she put her stuff away. "If I may ask...I thought you were..." Dagur paused. "People thought I was but I was only carried off by that Dragon. Later after three years I was going to return but got caught by many enemy's, one who was known as Alvin. I escaped and didn't go to berk but instead lived on an island with dragons who needed help. I didn't know you guys didn't still kill them. I stayed there a wile until I was captured by Viggo 1 1/2 years ago." Valka explained. Hiccup reached into his saddle bag and pulled out the dragon toy. He was going to tell her about that adventure but somthing else caught his thoughts. "Hey mom...I think dad would want to see you." Hiccup said forcing a smile. Valka nodded as the four headed to Berk, the other dragon riders getting things done on the edge.

After ariving Hiccup, Dagur, Heather, and there Mother landed and headed to the great hall. Hiccup pushed opean the door and stood looking at his dad, then moving to the side revealing Valka. Stoick stood frozen and moved over. Valka stood quiet and moved back a bit when Stoick walked closer. "Val?" He asked taking off his helmet in respect. She nodded and looked down. "I know what your gonna say Stoick. How did I leave and not come back after finally escaping people out of there minds. Not come back to you, to our children. What sighn did I have that you could change, that anyone on Berk could. I know I left you to raise them alone but I thought my beliefs would get them hurt. I was wrong, I see that now. Please just...Quit being so Stoic Stoick, shout, scream, say something!" Valka got louder as Stoick moved closer and put his hand under her chin. Everyone in the hall Silenced and watched the chiefs long lost wife return. "You as beautiful as the day I lost you." He whispered and landed a soft kiss. Hiccup considered everything going on and started clenching his fist. "I...I'm heading outside." He said and ran out the door. Dagur and Heather looked at Stoick who just nodded and they flew off after their brother.

Hiccup was flying at a slower speed than usually do to Toothless' wound and lay back, pictures and thoughts going through his head. Dagur caught up along with Heather both looking down. "Hey why don't we land over in the cove?" Heather questioned after about five minutes of silence. The other two nodded and headed to the cove in the forest. Hiccup jumped off Toothless and sat by the pond, Dagur following and Heather sitting to the side. Hiccup looked at his reflection in the water before a leaf fell causing ripples to form. He sat back beside Dagur against Toothless, and put his knees against his chest. Dagur saw a few tears on his face but decided sometimes you have to have space. He then saw Heather and motioned her over. Heather sat on his right, Hiccup on his left. She looked at the water lost in thought. Dagur wanted to tell her something to help so he tried "Heather...I know your mostly on your own but...Me and Hiccup are here, you don't have to alone sis." He said softly placing a hand on her shoulder. Hiccup smiled a little at one of his own thoughts and Dagur asked "Wanna talk? Brother to Brother?" he suggested. Hiccup looked at him and was about to speak but no words could form out of his mouth. Dagur placed a hand on Hiccup, apparently triggering something. He saw a lively look in his brothers eye but Hiccup had no smile, instead looked like his head had a twister inside it. "Hiccup...no ones out here, if you need to say something say it. You know I won't get mad." Dagur said quietly. Hiccup clenched his fists and tensed up "I can't talk because I have no words ok! It's too much! First I find my two long lost siblings who I worry will leave again, then we see dragon trappers that try to take Toothless again! And for the fanally to top it all off my mother who apparently is twisted in the head and left me with a dad who was pretty much broken until I was almost 15, on a boat while she saves my dragon!" Hiccup shouted everything throwing his hands in the air. After he was done, Hiccup was out of breath and had tears flowing freely on his face. Dagur wrapped his arm around him and pulled him close, lightly embracing Hiccup and let the tears fall on his shoulder. Hiccup closed his eyes, feeling safe in Dagur's arms. Heather joined in and both Twins fell asleep after a while on him. He smiled and leaned back on the dragons, watching the sky and holding them against his shoulders, closing his eyes but not falling asleep. A bit later he heard someone walking in the trees as Stoick and Valka stepped into the cove, knowing this was one of Hiccups calming places. Dagur opened his eyes and looked up but his shoulders were pinned by his younger siblings. "Uh...A little help please!" He said in a loud whisper smiling. Stoick and Valka laughed as they walked over, Toothless carrying Hiccup and Windshere carrying Heather, not wanting to wake their riders. After all they did go through a lot in the past weeks so they all decided to give the kids some rest.

Hey guys hope you enjoyed that small twist and turn of events. So Basically Dagur's playing the new big bro role, Heather's the 'always has to be responsible' twin, and Hiccup's the bro who has too much on his plate to handle. Also I was gonna do a small thing on Hiccup admitting secrets, one being previous self harm, but decided not to. Oh and uh if you guys have any ideas what so ever, like even the smallest thing like a new land or something, I love reveiws and they push me to read. Until next time fellow dragon riders, Your amazing!

End
file.